50 YEARS OF SERVICE—Celebrating 50 years in dentistry this month, 45 of which were spent in Dixon, is Dr. H. A. Lazier, 203 E. McKenney St.

A 1908 graduate of Northwestern University School of Dentistry, Dr. Lazier began his practice when there were no such things as a good local anesthetic, or novocaine, and electricity during the day.

"Novocaine was very new when I began my own practice in 1908. Gold inlays were just beginning to be used during the time I was in dentistry school and when I started my own practice in the town of Wyoming, Ill., there wasn't any electricity during the day.

"I operated the drill with a foot pedal engine for the first five years I was in practice, from 1908 to 1913. I've had this office here in the Dixon National bank building ever since it was built in 1914.

Dr. Lazier, born on a farm near Rochelle, attended country school and graduated from Rochelle Township High School in 1904 and Northwestern University School of Dentistry on June 26, 1908. He became interested in dentistry while working for a dentist in Rochelle during his high school years.

"I did lab work and various things which developed my interest. I liked it very well. I don't want to quit even now."

Working in Rochelle after graduation from Northwestern, Dr. Lazier opened his own practice on Dec. 12, 1908 in Wyoming, buying what he calls "a unique office."

"It had belonged to a dentist who was 81 when he died, and he had been dead for several years when I bought the practice. He had been what was called a registered dentist, which means he had never gone to school, but had served an apprenticeship with a dentist. When the dental laws were passed in 1893, all dentists had to register.

"Everything in the office was, of course, very old; the only drill he had was a hand drill. There was no electricity during the day; it wasn't turned on until it started getting dark outside.

"I remember one time I had to treat a patient out in the country, and extraction case. I went out in a two-wheel horse cart over the muddy roads—the cart was something like today's racing sulky. . . . There were no roads out in the country, so I had quite a ride in that little cart.

"The streets in town were unpaved, but some were part stone which helped. All hauling was done with horse drawn vehicles and sometimes they got stuck in the middle of the streets.

Techniques and materials used in dentistry have changed a great deal since then, just like everything else."

Coming to Dixon on June 17, 1913, Dr. Lazier opened his office in the bank building and in 1915 was married to Freya Foerster of Crystal Lake, a teacher and also a Northwestern graduate.

On his anniversary earlier this month, staff members of the McNichols Clinic surprised him with an anniversary cake, which had a large tooth made of icing with '50' written on it in gold as a centerpiece, and decorated with red sugar flowers.

Pipe Smoker Hospitalized Lighting Pipe

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Charles W. Leach, 89, went to a hospital with second-degree burns Friday after trying to light his pipe in the wind. Police said ashes blown from Leach's pipe set fire to his clothing. He was burned about the chest and neck.

By The Associated Press
Illinois today continued to enjoy its after Christmas mild weather and mostly sunny skies.

Temperatures, a bit nippy during the night, moved into the 40s.

About the same fare was forecast by the Weather Bureau for Sunday.

Meanwhile, a warm air invasion, triggered by mild southerly winds, hugged the eastern third of the nation today while rainfall licked the Southeast and the Northwest.

The warming trend offered more Christmas season relaxation for many parts of the East from the winter cold. The generally fair climes also provided a holiday-season attraction for motorists to hit the road despite the mounting highway death toll.

The Weather Bureau forecast daytime 40-degree temperatures for much of the Northeast, slightly less readings in the Ohio Valley and portions of the Midwest and South, and temperatures upwards of 50 degrees for a vast area of Dixie.

However, forecasters also saw occasional rain moving into the mid-Atlantic states and New York during the evening.

Light to heavy rainfall gave southern Florida an overnight dousing with half inch amounts already reported at Fort Myers, Palm Beach and Tampa. More than six inches of rain has drenched Port Everglades, Fla. since Christmas night.

Civilians In Cuba Warned

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Civilians were warned today to keep clear of rebel positions as the government proclaimed an all-out drive to wipe out the insurgents.

Army planes are reported to already have bombed the outskirts of Pinaras on the main highway east of Santa Clara, where the rebels are tightening a ring around the capital of Las Villas Province.

The two-year rebellion faces its bloodiest turn as government forces struck at heavily populated concentrated districts which until now have been kept out of the range of gunfire.

A shortage of weapons and ammunition was hampering the government of President Fulgencio Batista in countering attacks by the rebel forces of Fidel Castro.

The rebels control highways connecting Havana and Santa Clara, and travel is risky.

While Castro's forces appeared gaining strength on arms smuggled from the United States, there was grumbling in government circles at the attitude taken by Washington.

The United States was accused by many of helping the rebels, in effect, by maintaining an embargo on shipment of weapons to the Batista government.

Hunt Balloonists In East Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Aerial searchers tried today to pin down unconfirmed reports from ham radio operators that the British balloon Small World had landed in eastern Venezuela after a transatlantic flight. The air search began Friday over the jungle area of the Orinoco River delta.

The amateur radio operators reported that the balloon and its four passengers had landed near Pedernales, a Venezuelan port on the Atlantic at the northern edge of the wide delta. The town is just 20 miles west of the tip of Trinidad in the British West Indies. The report gained strength when Minister of Communications Oscar Machado Zuloaga was quoted in Caracas newspapers as saying the balloon had landed in Venezuela. The Civil Aeronautics Authority

'Missing' College Prexy Ends Trip Reaches Florida, Sorry About Causing Worrry

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Dr. M. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley College who was reported missing on a trip to Orlando from Marshall, Mo., arrived here early today by bus. Collins, 55, arrived bright and cheerful but contrite over having caused reports that he was missing.

He had come by day coach from Springfield to Jacksonville where he spent the day resting. Saturday morning he came to Orlando by bus to watch his college's football team play East Texas State in the Tangerine Bowl.

Reported Missing

He had been reported missing when he did not return home after Christmas Eve church services. His wife reported the situation to police, but a son-in-law, Jaimie Hogue, said there was nothing to worry about.

Newspapermen tried vainly to reach the president all along the route. This puzzled Collins.

"I can't understand why I didn't hear the paging," he said. "I always get off a train to limber my legs around a station."

"Sorry I Caused Worrry"
The college president said: "I'm sorry I caused all this worry in the press, to my family, and friends."

"I went around the world a few years ago, and my family didn't hear from me for weeks and weeks then, and they didn't worry about me," he added. "I don't know why they worried this time."

When he arrived in Orlando he caught a taxi to a hotel, which notified The Orlando Sentinel-Star, and reporter Sumner Rand went to see him.

Found in Barber Shop
Rand found Collins in the hotel barber shop getting a hair cut. The sturdy 6-footer with gray hair looked fine and was in jovial spirits.

Collins said he originally had intended to catch the 3:10 a.m. train at Springfield but when he went to midnight communion services in Marshall he decided to leave immediately afterward.

"I came out the church door at a quarter of one, got in the car and headed for Springfield," he

Paper Strike Conferees Set Tentative Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—A tentative settlement has been reached in the costliest newspaper strike in New York City history. A back-to-work move hinges on a membership vote Sunday by striking deliverers.

The peace formula to end the strike, now in its 18th day, was announced Friday night by the nation's top federal mediator, Joseph P. Finnegan. He expressed himself as "mightily pleased" by the package settlement granting wage increases and other concessions.

The nine struck dailies may be back on the streets by Monday if terms are accepted by the independent Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union.

Asher Schwartz, union attorney, said union officials are confident the terms will be acceptable to the membership.

The newspapers involved are the Times, Herald Tribune, Daily News, Mirror, Journal-American, Post, World-Telegram and Sun, Long Island Star Journal and Long Island Daily Press.

Highway Death Toll Outruns Estimates

Still See 'Glimmer Of Hope'

376 Dead on Roads, Total Holiday Death Count Reaches 508

By The Associated Press
Traffic ..... 376
Fires ..... 18
Miscellaneous ..... 54
Total ..... 508

The traffic death toll climbed faster than pre-Christmas holiday estimates Saturday as millions of weekend travelers toured the country's highways.

The National Safety Council said the toll was ahead of a rate which would produce the 620 deaths it predicted for the four-day holiday period.

"Glimmer of Hope"
But it added there was a "glimmer of hope" the rising number of auto fatalities might fall short of the all-time holiday high of 706 set in a similar Christmas period two years ago. As usual, speed and careless

Stratton Pleads For Safe Driving

By The Associated Press
A plea to slow down and take care was issued to motorists on Illinois highways by Gov. Stratton as the long Christmas holiday period passed the halfway mark scarred by mounting reports of traffic deaths.

Stratton issued the personal plea in Springfield Friday night, holding out hope that Illinois could set an improved record for traffic safety if drivers cooperated with police during the remainder of the 102-hour holiday.

The Associated Press counted 16 dead in traffic accidents, four in fires, eight in miscellaneous accidents, for a total of 28.

driving were blamed for most of the killer accidents.

Generally fair and warm weather egged on some motorists to push down on the accelerator.

The council said it based its hopes that no new record was in the making on midnight figures which showed this year's toll at 345 deaths. At a comparable period in 1956 the death count was 384.

Slow-Down in Rate

The NSC said early Saturday morning figures indicated there was a slow-down in the death rate. At the start of the holiday fatalities rose far above a record-breaking pace.

The NSC said Friday night was the first time since The Associated Press count started at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday that the traffic toll had fallen below the heavy fatality pace of two years ago.

"These figures are certainly the first glimmer of hope in an otherwise bleak picture. The council hopes we have stopped this advance of human slaughter on the highways. We hope we now have a chance to avoid hitting the all-time high of 706 dead in 1956," the spokesman said.

An AP survey for a nonholiday period, from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 10 to midnight, Sunday, Dec. 14, showed 341 persons died in traffic accidents, 106 in fires and 105 in miscellaneous type accidents, a total of 552.

Youth Stabbed in Fight After Teen Record Hop

1,500 Teen-Agers Mill Around Dance Hall

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A 20-year-old boy was stabbed Friday night in a fight with another youth as the pair were leaving Dick Clark's Teenage Record Hop at Sunnybrook Ballroom.

Township and special police made their way through a milling crowd of some 1,500 teen-agers in the parking lot outside the dance hall to reach the victim, Robert Neiffer.

He was taken to Pottstown Memorial Hospital where surgeons performed a two-hour operation to repair the wound in the left side of his abdomen. A hospital spokesman said the Pottstown youth had lost a great quantity of blood but, barring complications, was expected to live. He also suffered a minor facial cut.

2nd Youth Admits Stabbing
Lower Pottsgrove Township Police Chief Harry Chrusch said a second youth, Maynard Feno, 20, of Reading, in adjoining Berks County, had signed a statement admitting the stabbing. He was charged with aggravated assault and battery and assault with a deadly weapon, pending further investigation.

Chrusch said there had been rumors of trouble between a group of boys from Pottstown and others from Reading.

Chrusch said he understood Clark, a nationally known TV personality, already had left the ballroom when the fight broke out shortly before midnight and likely was not aware it had occurred.

"Trouble Was Brewing"
He said that apparently "trouble had been brewing for some time between the two groups" but that since only the two boys had been involved in the fight, he did not yet know if their battle was a coincidence or a part of the "smouldering feud."

He said Feno told him he had stabbed the Pottstown boy with a four inch blade but didn't know what he had done with it. The weapon has not been found. Feno did not say what had started the fight.

Sunnybrook has long been a popular ballroom in this area with weekly name bands attracting as many as 7,000 persons to the ballroom. It is located just outside Pottstown some 40 miles northwest of Philadelphia.

Will Appeal

Judge Nixes New Trial For Goldfine

BOSTON (AP)—New England industrialist Bernard Goldfine, under a three-month jail sentence for contempt of court, has lost his bid for a new trial.

Goldfine is scheduled to begin serving the sentence Jan. 7, but U.S. District Court Judge Charles E. Wyanski Jr., admitted him to bail Friday pending his appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Free Until Appeal

Being admitted to bail, court attaches said, means Goldfine will be free until the case is heard by the appeals court, probably not until much later than Jan. 7.

Goldfine's secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, under a 10-day sentence for contempt of court, also was admitted to bail pending action on her appeal.

Both were convicted last Monday of criminal contempt after U.S. internal revenue agents charged the pair failed to turn over records of Goldfine textile mills for study.

Faces Washington Trial
Goldfine faces trial in Washington March 16 on a contempt of Congress charge for failure to answer some questions about his financial affairs before a congressional subcommittee last summer.

The Washington hearings brought out testimony that Goldfine and Sherman Adams, former assistant to President Eisenhower, had exchanged gifts. Adams, who denied any wrongdoing, later resigned his White House post.

New Pantry Saves Groping Around

Here's a unique idea for a pantry that eliminates the frustration of groping for canned goods and other packaged foods, yet does not require much floor space. In the kitchen shown, shelves were constructed when the house was built, and lower shutters of ponderosa pine added later. In an existing house, a similar pantry could be constructed in an unused wall space by simply cutting away the plaster or gypsum board on one side and installing shelves between the studs.

Ready Linens, Silverware For Parties

With holiday parties upcoming, the homemaker would do well to get the makings of her table settings ready for use.

The day of a dinner is not time to discover that the special tablecloth and napkins are dusty or rumpled or that seldom-used silver has picked up a film or tarnish.

It's like money in the bank for a hostess to know she can set an immaculate, inviting table without last-minute improvising or cleaning.

Although we are encouraged to use our silver, best china and linens frequently, there are always some articles which are reserved for special occasions.

One of these is the large tablecloth and matching linen napkin set.

If you own a "company" cloth, look it over.

A fine damask is always an impeccable background for dinner service, provided it is immaculate and smooth. If heavy creases are evident, or dust has gathered along the edges, launder the linens.

Correctly, a cloth should be large enough to allow a 12-to-15-inch overhang on all sides. If you're going to buy one, be sure you know your table size—a 42"x60" table takes a 72"x90" cloth.

Matching napkins are usually 22 inches square and may be folded square or oblong.

Pure Irish linens should be laundered by themselves to avoid picking up lint from other materials. Use rich suds, soft water and rinse at least twice.

To whiten yellowed linens, you can use a mild bleaching solution or, Irish Linen Guild says, spread them on the grass in the sun.

Never use bleaches on colored or printed linens, however.

The trick of ironing linen to bring up its natural luster is to iron while damp with a moderately hot iron on the wrong side until partly dry, then polish on the right side until completely dry.

To keep a large cloth creaseless except for the center crease, which is permissible, fold once lengthwise and roll it around a mailing or similar cylindrical tube. Cover with clean paper held securely with a strip of cellulose tape.

Seasonal Changes Affect Structure Of Your House

Expansion and contraction of building materials caused by temperature changes from season to season can open up tiny cracks in the weather-proof armor of a house.

For this reason it's a good idea for the home owner, caulking gun in hand, to inspect outside walls and areas around windows, doors, and foundation at least twice yearly.

Even cracks that are almost invisible can let heat escape in winter and are open doorways for dust and insects.

One area of the house that is unaffected by expansion and contraction is a roof of asphalt shingles. This is because asphalt shingles have a tough flexibility that permits them to absorb normal swelling and shrinkage of other components of the structure.

If the roof is old and weather-worn, however, it should be inspected along with the rest of the house. This should be done by a reliable roofing contractor who can tell quickly if the old material is giving adequate protection.

HOT
Winter's a good time to think of air conditioning. Installation contractors aren't so busy in cold weather, and may offer a lower price.

New Rugs, Carpets Add Fresh Look

An avalanche of new carpets in an astonishing assortment of colors, patterns, textures and fibers is designed to slide fresh beauty into the home and push old and worn-out rugs into overdue retirement.

At the recent winter market where new styles were introduced, even the insiders of the industry—were surprised at the variety of new floor coverings.

What's also surprising is that most of the new is in moderately priced carpets.

You can't challenge our loyalty to old rugs. Carpet Institute studies indicate that over 35 per cent of living room rugs are at least 10 years old, and it may take us three years to decide to buy a new rug.

To speed up the replacement cycle and to capture the attention of new families and those who move into another home requiring new floor coverings, many inducements are offered.

Style news is notable in the medium price range. Subtle, off-beat color combinations appear in the textured designs.

Some of the tweedy effects tend to the shaggy, hand-made look of knitted tweed sweaters; alternating rows of tightly twisted nubby tufts in two colors give a new, textured surface to another carpet.

Color combinations such as black and brown, black and olive, black and white, blue and violet or natural beige and gold are frequently noted.

Beige, the leading neutral color, appears in many gradations from pale sand to deeper brown.

White is an important influence. Although off-white rugs are in several collections, white looks newer and more practical when it appears as background for vivid color or black.

One eye-catching new rug features a low, tight, white background with high loops of electric blue scattered in a spatter effect over the surface.

Blue is a contender for top color or honors and covers a range from pastel through the muted French to bold electric and deep navy shades.

Blue and green combinations or blue and violet blend in rich-looking rugs which have an almost iridescent sheen.

Gold tones, coral and red leave a bright trail; one rug combines red and coral in a speckled textured weave.

He Kept Cool

Roman emperor Heliogabalus was one of the earliest fans of air conditioning. For his cool comfort, 1,000 slaves hauled ice from the mountains daily.

Need More Room?

Just Raise the Roof

Don't blow your top if your family is growing too fast for your house. Instead, raise the roof.

That's just what the owner of the house in the photograph did recently to make room for his expanding family. By literally raising the roof of his St. Louis bungalow, he added three bedrooms and space for a bath to what had been a five-room, one-story house.

Like many owners of small houses on small lots, this family decided to go upward when they realized they couldn't build outward without taking up too much of their rear yard.

Once the decision was made, the rest was comparatively easy. A new superstructure for walls and roof was erected atop the old roof, and a new roof of asphalt shingles applied to give sure weather protection.

The owner chose asphalt shingles because of the reliable service they had given on the roof of the original house, and because he liked the silvery gray color used on the old roof.

Before the interior was partitioned off and finished with gypsum board, the owner installed mineral wool four inches thick in the ceiling and three inches thick in the walls to insure summer comfort and economical winter heating.

Another savings was in the use of double-hung window units of ponderosa pine. These helped reduce labor costs, since they are assembled at the factory and need only be nailed into the window opening when they arrive at the building site.

Total cost of the expansion, including roughed-in plumbing for the second-floor bathroom, was $2,700.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I am contemplating taking the old doors off our garage and putting on one of the doors that swings up and out of the way. What kind of rollers and other equipment are needed?

ANSWER: Are you making the new door or buying it? If you are making it, you can buy a complete package of overhead garage door hardware, but you must give the dealer the exact dimensions of the door. If you are buying the door, you'll have no problem, since you can get the proper hardware at the same time.

QUESTION: About a year ago, I made a splice in an electric lamp cord. The lamp would not light the other day. I could find no apparent reason, so I finally took the splice apart. I found that, at the point where I had made the splice, it was all corroded. Can you tell me what caused this? I made the splice in what I thought was the right way. I sanded the wires a little, wound them together securely, put on some flux and then soldered the connection.

ANSWER: The chances are that you used an acid flux or an acid-core solder or both. No flux or solder with acid in it should be used in any electrical work, since it has a corrosive effect. In making a new splice, be sure to use a resin flux, or, if you are using one of the solders that do not require flux, a resin-core solder.

QUESTION: To finish an unfinished pine cabinet with black lacquer, must I apply a sealer first?

ANSWER: You should apply a coat of lacquer sealer first, then follow with at least two coats of black lacquer. Have you ever used lacquer? And are you using a brush or a sprayer? If you have never used lacquer, and you are using a brush, better do a little practicing first on scrap wood. You must work quickly and never go over the same spot twice.

QUESTION: I expect to make a large coffee table within the next few weeks. I have a large piece of birch plywood left over from another project, but it is only a quarter of an inch thick. My plans call for the table top to be three-quarters of an inch thick. In order to save money, I thought about the possibility of buying the cheapest grade of plywood available in half-inch size and then gluing it to the thinner birch in order to get the required thickness. The birch side of the combination would, of course, be the upper side of the table top. But I don't want to start this job unless I am sure that the two pieces of plywood can be glued together permanently. Can you advise me?

ANSWER: First, we'll have to agree that when we say permanently, we don't mean forever, since nothing material has permanence. Aside from that, the answer is, yes, you can glue together the two pieces of plywood so that they will hold permanently. Use a good quality wood glue, spreading it evenly and clamping the wood together for 24 hours. Or you can use contact cement, in which case no clamps are necessary but extra care must be taken to see that the two pieces of wood are aligned perfectly before bonding.

Lower Thermostat Will Give Higher Degree of Comfort

Two of the most important factors in winter comfort are the location of your thermostat and the thickness of your insulation.

First, consider the thermostat. Did you know that some heating engineers are now recommending that it be moved down to sitting level?

To understand why, take stock of your life at home. Don't you spend more time sitting than standing?

When the thermostat is located at sitting level, it keeps the temperature at the comfort point you prefer at that level. You may have to stoop a bit to read the thermometer, but you'll be a lot more comfortable watching TV.

Insulation is vital not only to your comfort but to your pocketbook as well. It helps the house hold heat produced by your furnace, and keeps walls warm. Less heat loss means lower fuel bills. Warm walls mean greater comfort, since a cold wall actually draws body heat toward it, making you feel cold.

But just the fact that you have insulation in your home may not be enough. For true comfort and heating economy, the insulation must be thick enough to do a good job. Current recommendations of heating engineers are an absolute minimum thickness of four inches of mineral wool in the ceiling, and three inches in the walls.

These thicknesses give you the extra advantage of better family health by cutting down on chills-causing drafts.

Studies show that proper insulation can save as much as 40 per cent annually on winter fuel consumption. Many areas of the house, such as crawl spaces, and attic floors, can be insulated by the home handyman, using batts or blankets of mineral wool available from building material dealers.

Trouble Lurks In Windows Poorly Picked

Many families take windows pretty much for granted until they begin to cause trouble. Then it's frequently too late to do anything about it beyond ripping them all out and installing new ones all around.

For this reason, it's a good idea for families who are planning to build, buy, or remodel a house to be more aware of window ills and how to avoid them ahead of time. Here are a few examples.

1. Condensation. Moisture can form on the frame and sash of some windows in winter. This moisture can run down onto walls, spoiling wallpaper and paint, and drip onto carpets. The surest way to avoid this is to choose wood windows, since moisture won't condense on wood.

2. Heat loss through frames and sash. Some materials used for windows conduct heat rapidly. In winter, this can mean higher fuel bills and the discomfort of cold surfaces inside the house. Frames and sash made of ponderosa pine, however, stay warm to the touch and effectively block the passage of heat because wood is a natural insulating material.

3. Appearance. Many windows are made of materials that do not take paint well. As a result, the frames and sash can't become a part of the decorating scheme, inside or out. Wood windows eliminate this problem since clear ponderosa pine can be painted or stained for any decorating effect desired.

In the purchase and preparation of food there can be no substitute for quality!

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Few changes in the practice of medicine in the last 25 years are more remarkable than what has happened in the treatment of lobar pneumonia.

This formerly common infection of the lungs was known as the old people's friend because it so often proved an easy and painless final illness. Today lobar pneumonia is almost a rare disease. When it does develop, recovery is the rule. The speed with which this occurs is amazing to all those who remember what it used to be.

It is interesting and important, even now, to discuss this disease. A typical case starts suddenly with a severe chill. This may last for as long as half an hour. Soon after the chill, the temperature begins to go up. It rises rapidly to around 104 or 105 degrees.

At the same time, a person coming down with pneumonia may have general aches and pains along with a headache. Pain in the chest or side, like that which is present in pleurisy, is also common.

Cough which produces pain and does not bring up much mucus starts early. The breathing becomes rapid and each breath is shallow.

These symptoms can be confused with other conditions, but are certainly suspicious of lobar pneumonia. Examination of the chest by a physician and especially taking an X-ray film generally bring an early diagnosis.

Unless steps are taken to treat the condition promptly, the typical signs develop by the second or third day.

By this time cold sores around the lips are likely to be present, the facial expression shows anxiety, the pain in the side or chest is severe, and the breathing is rapid. Cough brings up a fair amount of sputum which is likely to be tinged with blood. The temperature stays high, at 104 and 105 degrees.

Penicillin and its relatives almost always bring remarkable improvement in a short time. A quick fall in temperature and relief of the cough and pain occur rapidly. The breathing becomes slow and normal, and no longer is it necessary to wait for the crisis to know what the outcome will be.

Today, there is only about one chance in 20 or 25 of dying from the disease. It used to be one chance in three. Lobar pneumonia has dropped from being one of the most important causes of death to being one of the least important of the major diseases.

But one should remember that the diagnosis must be made early and treatment started promptly, because the results are much more likely to be favorable than if pneumonia has been present for several days.

Was there ever a woman who—
After accepting a party invitation, didn't think, "What have I got to wear?"

After hitting 40 really believed she looked her age?

Ever doubted any complimentary statement ever made about any of her children?

Didn't believe she was far more practical than her husband?

Really meant it when she said, "Be perfectly frank. You won't hurt my feelings?"

Never wondered how her husband would ever get along without her? Couldn't lift herself out of the doldrums by buying a new hat?

Didn't occasionally have an uncontrollable urge to push furniture around to see if it wouldn't look better in a different arrangement?

Didn't need a "best friend" with whom she felt perfectly free to let down her hair?

Wasn't interested in the latest bit of local gossip?

Didn't feel especially virtuous during housecleaning week?

Believed her husband knew how hard she worked?

Could be happy without feeling needed by somebody?

Wouldn't prefer to be happily married to a successful man than to have a successful career of her own?

So They Say

We have become overcommercial as a nation, besieged at every point by more than 1,500 sales messages a day. We have become standardized, homogenized, sterilized and hypnotized.

—Author Vance Packard.

American cars are vulgar and monotonous. They're like the legendary brassy blonde. She's pretty dazzling for the first five minutes, but then you're embarrassed to be seen with her.

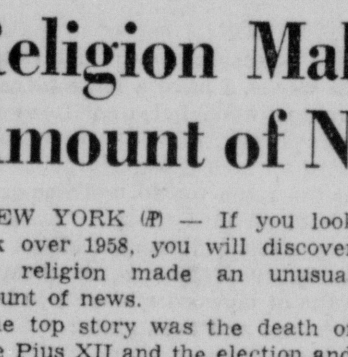

—Industrial designer Henry Dreyfuss.

Our reputation over (Suez) took a bigger knock than at any time since the Boer War. It amazes me that this terrible error has not been more vigorously prosecuted by politicians who recognize it as a crime.

—British Lord Altrincham, suggesting a "conspiracy" existed to hush up invasion of Suez.

Moonlight at Midday, by Sally Carrigher. Do you remember "Ice-bound Summer" by this author? Again she writes about Alaska and her experiences as a naturalist there. She grew to know Alaska and the Eskimos well.

Lee of Virginia, by Douglas Southall Freeman. A condensation of his fine four-volume life of Gen. Lee made by the author himself for young people.

Ezio Pinza, as told to Robert Magidoff. The autobiography of the famous Italian basso. His career in opera was obscured for many by the role which made his name familiar to many more people—Emile de Beque in "South Pacific."

The Humor of the American Cowboy, by Stan Hoig. Mr. Hoig presents a collection of the "tall tales, anecdotes, jokes, incidents of the Old West."

Heart of a Child, by Phyllis B. B. The story of a boy and his Crutch Club, by Gregory Felsen. The author of "Hot Rod" has written another story about drag-racing, a story of a fight with fast cars, hot rods, as the weapons.

Rendezvous, by Steve Frazee. "A story of the West."

The Golden Eagle, by John Ed-ward Jennings. "A novel based on the fabulous life and times of the great Conquistador, Hernando de Soto, 1500-1542." It is perhaps a bit polished, some of the brutality removed, but it makes a good story.

The Black Fawn, by Jim Kjelgaard. A frightened city boy comes to know love and be loved from Gram and Gramps Bennett and the black fawn he found in the woods of the Bennett's farm.

Civil War Book Gives Perspective

THE CIVIL WAR, Ft. Sumter to Perryville, by Shelby Foote, Random House, $10.

There has been nothing like a general history of the Civil War for more than 30 years. In that period, there has been a tremendous outpouring of biographies, studies of the war's generalship, campaigns and battles, and corollary literature. It is high time that some one put the war into the framework of recent findings and appraisals.

Let it be said at the outset that Shelby Foote has succeeded, in this first of three volumes, more than well. You will not lay aside this book without a feeling of eagerness to get your hands on the next two.

Author a Novelist

Foote is a novelist. He brings a novelist's approach to history, meaning that it is fluid, exciting, suspenseful. He bills his work as "A Narrative" and it is eminently that.

He builds his story around the presidential protagonists, Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln. By accentuating the contrasts in their personalities, their methods and policies, he achieves a high degree of dramatic interest. He gives detailed attention to the minor campaigns which, though neglected by many so-called historians, were important to the stream of the war and its truly national character.

Painfully Objective

Foote does not intrude his own opinions. He is almost painfully objective in refraining from dogmatic judgments, preferring to let events and facts speak for themselves. Some partisans may scream that he has been too charitable with controversial figures like Davis and George B. McClellan, but Foote's utter frankness and honesty in reporting create an indelible picture which, in some respects, is more revealing than any personal opinion.

This is not a definitive history. Foote is concerned with the war in the strictest meaning of the word. He does not go deeply into the background for war; neither does he give more than a glimpse of the economics of the war, the home front experiences, the struggles of supply and communications. But to point out such omissions is only to emphasize the great scope of the war. Foote's work may not give the final answers on what the war meant, but, beyond question, it is a bright searchlight on how and where and by whom it was fought.

Little America Soon Will Be Silent Again

By CHARLES MAHER

LITTLE AMERICA V — Little America soon will be nothing but a dark and icy monument to the curiosity of man.

This last of the antarctic beachheads established by the late Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd is being closed as soon as possible after the International Geophysical Year ends next Wednesday.

Evacuation of the snow-covered station built near Kainan Bay on the Ross Ice Shelf in 1956—fifth of a series of Little Americas that Byrd started some 40 miles away during his 1928-30 expedition—is scheduled to start Jan. 2.

Twelve U.S. Navy men and 12 IGY men are to lead the exodus.

They are among 180 men now here, 74 of whom wintered in Little America to conduct or support scientific work that ranged from investigation of the heavens over the station to the ice hundreds of feet beneath it.

Tentative plans call for the evacuation of other groups Jan. 5 or Jan. 8. If the ships are delayed, however, or the weather is bad, the rear guard possibly may not get out before the end of January.

Most of the equipment in and around the station will be left until late next year—possibly forever.

Isn't Practical
Lt. Cmdr. Thomas Thompson of Miami, Fla., the base commander, says he will be lucky to get out 30 per cent now.

"There is about 1,000 tons of stuff that could be taken out and used again," he said. "About 200 tons has already been shipped out. We may get out 100 tons more. The things we are moving this time include radio and equipment parts needed at other stations."

Home Adviser Jackson Gives Suggestions for 1959 Christmas Events

By MARIAN J. JACKSON
Lee County Home Adviser

More than 50 4-H boys and girls will be honored at a recognition trip to Chicago, sponsored by Lee County Bankers' Federation. These County Outstanding members will visit:

Don McNeill's Breakfast Club
Underwriters' Laboratories
Peoples' Gas, Light and Coke Co.
"South Seas Adventure"

Dance: 4-H Center

Lee County 4-H Federation is sponsoring a dance at the 4-H Center, Thursday night, Jan. 1, from 9-12 p.m. Public is invited.

Make 1959 Christmas Plans Now
"Next year things will be different. We'll be ready for the holidays." That is a familiar refrain in most families.

Queenie Mills, University of Illinois child development and family relationships specialist, suggests that they start preparing NOW by analyzing what went wrong this year and planning more intelligently for next Christmas season.

For example, Mother might ask herself: "Did I plan, shop, make gifts, and send cards early enough? Or did I wait until the last minute?"

Last-minute planners are often so busy they don't realize that they are communicating their feelings of pressure, excitement and irritability to their children.

The thing to do is to start your planning now. A gift list is a good start so that you can watch for late winter, spring and summer sales. You'll save money and will enter the next Christmas season with a relaxed sense of accomplishment and more time to give to your children during the holidays.

Miss Mills says parents who plan throughout the year will have more time to help their children participate in holiday activities without losing patience, and the children will then not be so likely to become irritable and over excited.

Participating in pre-season activities can help drain off pent-up excitement in children. So ask yourself: "Just how much DID I let my child help with Christmas activities this year? Did I provide time, help and materials?"

Plan to have a good supply of the things children will need, to make and wrap their own gifts and to create their personal Christmas cards.

For the little child, this means fat crayons, paint, drawing paper, colored construction paper, scissors with blunt ends, paste, and Christmas stickers. Begin by saving "used" wrappings, cards, and ribbons from this year's gifts. Label a box "Johnny's Christmas Box. Open Dec. 1, 1959," and use it for collecting various items during the year.

For an older child, jot down a reminder to stock up on such items as cookie mixes — and remember to save some time to help the young cook or baker.

Miss Mills suggests making an inventory of holiday suggestions, activities and events. Then talk it over with friends and jot down any tips that will make next Christmas a happier and more peaceful time for both adults and children.

Nylon--Hotter Than Cotton, Is Research Topic

"My husband just won't wear nylon shirts. He says they're hot in summer and cold in winter."

"Nylon underwear is o.k. in the winter, but cotton is certainly cooler in the summer."

"Nylon sticks to me when I perspire."

Such widespread opinions have prompted research at the University of Illinois on the relative comfort of clothing made of nylon and of cotton.

Dr. Jane Werden and Dr. Ruth Galbraith of the department of home economics and M. K. Fahnestock, department of mechanical engineering, are cooperating on the project.

They are conducting the experiments in a specially built "room-within-a-room" in the Mechanical Engineering Laboratory. Within a large room is a small glass room built to accurately control both temperature and humidity. Here some of the variations of Illinois summers can be duplicated.

The research workers plan to try to answer two questions:

(1) Does the fiber content of clothing affect thermal comfort—related to heat, temperature and humidity? (Thermal comfort should not be confused with total comfort. Total comfort includes psychological and physical factors not measured in these experiments.)

(2) Is a fiber's ability to absorb moisture a factor relating to thermal comfort?

In the first series of tests, each girl in the test wore four outfits made from a different fiber—cotton, nylon, acetate and Arnel. The tests were run at different temperatures, 70, 76, 88 and 94 degrees F.—and at two humidities, 40 and 80 percent.

During the tests the subject wore a thermocouple harness that measured temperature at 20 places on the body. During the testing time, the subject sat on a large balance that measured her weight. From these measurements total weight loss and evaporative weight loss were recorded.

About this time the researchers became interested in answering other questions, such as:

"Doesn't it bother you to go in and out of air conditioning?"

"Aren't you hotter when you come out of your air-conditioned office and go home?"

To answer these questions, they began a second series of tests simulating conditions of hot summer days and air-conditioned rooms.

For more than an hour and a half, the subject sat in a room that registered a temperature of 94 degrees F. and 80 per cent humidity. Then she moved to an air-conditioned room with a temperature of 75 degrees F. and 45 per cent humidity. The same measurements were taken in this series as in the first.

These two series of tests have been completed, and the results are being checked and tabulated. They will be available soon.

Indications are clear even now that further research is needed to answer more questions about the comfort of clothing.

The Mature Parent Complete Security for Child Carries a Very High Price

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

In a prosperous suburb's high school an English teacher was discussing Shakespeare's play "Macbeth" with her class.

She pointed out the contrast between the gentle, unknown mood in which Macbeth's victim's entered his castle and the audience's suspicion of their doom.

She was about to ask her students for other examples of such dramatic contrast when she noticed a girl talking and giggling in the rear of the room.

She said, "Attention, please. You'll be getting questions on this play in the test." But the talking and giggling went on. So she spoke directly to the girl saying, "Janet, you heard me ask for attention. Now give it to me and stop talking."

At the period's end, the girl walked up to her desk and with a violence that shocked the teacher said, "You wait till my mother sees the principal. She'll have you fired."

"You had no right to bawl me out in front of the other kids. My mother says psychologists say it upsets a child's security. Just wait till I tell her how you upset my security."

Believe it or not, the principal warned the teacher against correcting one student before other ones.

There's only one thing to do if we're going to believe that we upset a child's security by correcting him before other children — tie him up in a cellophane bag and keep him in the refrigerator.

But if he's going to live and mingle with his kind, we're going to have to correct him in their presence sooner or later.

So if psychologists have given you the impression that such correction threatens his security, you better start thinking for yourself.

Otherwise, any correction of your child before others will become an over-anxious, self-accusing ordeal for you.

None of us wants to wreck Johnny's security. If we think we will by saying "Stop playing ball in the kitchen" before his friends, we'll infuse this necessary correction with an uncertainty that suggests we're committing a crime.

Instead of accepting this public rebuke as easily as it should be given, he'll regard us as the brute we think we are. And like the poor little high school girl, have himself quite a time when he enters the big, correcting world.

LONDON — Moscow radio painted a gloomy picture today of juvenile delinquency in the United States.

A broadcast entitled "The Growth of United States Delinquency" gave this description of young America:

"Melancholy Walk"
On leaving the movies, the youngster sets out on a melancholy walk through the streets. Cigar-shaped gleaming Cadillacs and Chryslers rush past him. In restaurant windows he sees the faces of well-fed and satisfied people.

"He, too, could have such a car and be sitting in such a restaurant if . . . one word keeps creeping up in his heart and mind — the word money."

"Recession in Culture"
Capitalism's "decay is inevitably accompanied by a recession in culture, a fall in morals and so shameful and frightening a phenomenon as children's juvenile delinquency," the broadcast added.

This state of affairs, Moscow radio said, shows how "Bible truths collapse as soon as they come into contact with life."

Things in Russia
And how are things in the Soviet Union?

"Time was when our country too — then quite a young Soviet republic — was faced with the pressing problem of unattended children due to poverty, postwar collapse and fatherlessness," the broadcast said.

"The morality of Socialist society could not tolerate such a phenomenon."

No Deeper
That's all, Moscow radio didn't go any deeper into the problem of present Soviet juvenile delinquency. Occasional Russian newspaper articles criticizing the conduct of young people indicate there is a lot of delinquency there.

German Dies In Smallpox Outbreak

HEIDELBERG, Germany — An outbreak of smallpox in this headquarters city of the U.S. Army in Europe brought its first fatality today. A 72-year-old patient died in Ludolfsklinik where four doctors and several other employees have contracted smallpox.

City health authorities have ordered nine schools closed and have called for the vaccination of the entire population of 123,000, except for those with recent vaccinations.

A U.S. Army spokesman said no special vaccination is planned for American soldiers. He said the annual immunization and re-immunization of soldiers and their dependents offered sufficient protection.

Sick Woman May Not See Her Native England Again

ST. LOUIS — Mrs. June Walter, 22, who wants only to see her native England just once more before she dies, may not get her wish after all.

Her doctor told the Military Air Transport Service that the young mother of two took a turn for the worse Friday and the plane trip home is not advisable now.

Has Blood Cancer
Mrs. Walter has blood cancer. She knows she is dying, and her greatest wish is to see her home soil.

Her husband, Charley, 25, disclosed that he couldn't accompany her because he had to stay in St.

Mom Hurt Trying to End Tryst Of Daughter, 13, Bus Driver

JOLIET — A mother was injured in an attempt to break up a rendezvous in a car between her 13-year-old daughter and a 29-year-old bus driver Friday.

The mother's attempt at intervention set off a chain-reaction accident in which her daughter and another woman also were injured.

Mrs. Emma Garcia, 40, was dragged several yards when she tried to open the car door and retrieve her daughter, Joan Veristan.

Gunned Motor
Police said the driver, James T. Day, 20, gunned the motor while Mrs. Garcia clung to the handle of the car door. After she released her hold, officers said, the Day car plunged forward into a busier street and smashed into a passing auto.

Mrs. Berlean Latham, 35, driver of the other car, suffered head injuries. She was listed in good condition in Silver Cross Hospital.

Mrs. Garcia and her daughter received minor cuts and bruises.

Day, identified by police as a married man, was held on a reckless driving charge, and police attempted to retrieve Joan.

2 Minor Accidents Occur in Dixon

Two minor auto accidents were reported to Dixon police Friday.

At 4:30 p.m. a driverless car parked in a lot at First Street and Crawford Avenue rolled north across First, hit a tree and veered west across Crawford, smashing into the National Standard Co. building.

Officers said the car was damaged extensively and a guard rail and several windows in the building broken. The vehicle belongs to John A. Liggett, Amboy.

Two cars were damaged at 7 p.m. at River Street and Galena Avenue. Police said Willard C. Brenner, 30, 919 Galena Ave., driving east on River Street, turned right onto Galena, hitting the right rear of a southbound car driven by Carol Ann Huyett, 18, 101 Shady Lane Dr. Neither was hurt.

Won't Bomb Cities Cuban AF Pilot Defects To Florida

MIAMI, Fla. — A young Cuban air force pilot flew a B26 bomber to Miami and exile Friday night "because I don't like to bomb cities and kill innocent women and children."

Li Jose A. Crespo, 24, said he forced his mechanic to accompany him.

Puts Gun at Head
"I put a gun to his head when we took off," Crespo told the Miami Herald, "and then made him sit in front of me on the flight to Miami. I know that if I return to Cuba I would be killed."

Crespo refused to reveal the name of his sergeant-mechanic who was scheduled to return to Havana by commercial airliner.

The plane carried no bombs but it mounted eight .50-caliber machine guns.

Slate Hearing
Crespo's lawyer in Miami, Jack King, said a hearing will determine whether his client will be admitted to the United States.

The pilot said he had been ordered to bomb Cuban cities in the government's fight against rebel forces and decided to get out. His parents live in Havana, he said.

Deny Such Order
Cuban sources in Miami said they never had heard of such an order.

The plane was left parked at the airport, presumably awaiting action by immigration or the border patrol.

Planes used in previous such defections were impounded and returned to Cuba.

Brings in Aid
This news brought in contributions and promises of help from St. Louisans.

James P. Duffy, the British consul in St. Louis, said today that he had received $165 in donations, with more help promised.

One man went to Duffy's home Christmas Day and gave him 10 silver dollars for the Walter family. The unidentified donor said he wanted to give the money "in memory of a sad occasion" 20 years ago when his mother died and his father was unable to be at her bedside.

Lung Complication
Mrs. Walter has developed a lung complication, which her doctor said could either be an infection or an infiltration of the lungs. The latter would be a sign that the disease is reaching its final stage.

The Military Air Transport Service agreed to fly Mrs. Walter home after getting approval from the Pentagon. Duffy and Congressman Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) had made her plight known and sought the government's intervention.

Keely Smith Gets Costly 'Bouquet'

HOLLYWOOD — Singer Keely Smith Friday night got one of the most expensive onstage bouquets in recent night club history.

She and hubby Louis Prima opened a 10-day engagement at the Moulin Rouge with a record 15,000 advance reservations.

The opening show was packed to its 800 capacity, another 1,200 people lined up on Sunset Boulevard, waiting for the second show.

As the show ended a parade of waiters and captains marched to the stage with huge floral bouquets for Miss Smith.

At the end of the parade came Moulin Rouge owner Frank Sennes with a box. Inside was a black mink wrap which Sennes said set him back $10,000.

"I never did this before," he told a reporter, "but then I never had an act that opened to 15,000 reservations before."

He admitted an ulterior motive. "I want them to stay an extra week and I'll pay double the money."

Prima and his aggregation reportedly draw $10,000 a week.

'Didn't Want Another Woman to Have Her Son'

Woman Indicted for Hiring Murder of Daughter-in-Law

VENTURA, Calif. — "She didn't want another woman to have her boy."

Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson was talking about Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, who was indicted Friday on a charge of murder, along with the two men she is accused of hiring to kill her daughter-in-law.

Dramatic Confession
Talking to reporters following the return of the indictments, Gustafson said it was a dramatic midnight confession by one of the accused hired killers that led to the county grand jury's swift action.

The jurors deliberated only 15 minutes before indicting Mrs. Duncan, Luis Moya, 22, and Augustine Baldonado, 25, for the murder of Olga Duncan, 30, pregnant wife of Mrs. Duncan's son, Frank.

Moya, a drifter with an eight-year record of arrests, had maintained a sullen silence since the body of the Canadian nurse was found in a hastily dug grave near here last Sunday. But as midnight tolled on Christmas night he called in his jailers.

"Confessed to God"
"I have confessed to God and asked forgiveness," he told them, and gave a statement the district attorney said corroborated in every detail one made earlier by Baldonado.

The two men say Mrs. Duncan promised them $6,000 to kill the woman her son had married last June. They carried out the murder plot last Nov. 17, they said, luring the bride into their car and choking and beating her to death.

Fierce Jealousy
A fierce jealousy lay behind Mrs. Duncan's plotting, Gustafson said. She did everything she could to prevent her son's marriage and to break it up after the ceremony. Duncan had separated from his bride after two weeks and gone back to live with his mother. Mrs. Duncan has denied any connection with her daughter-in-law's death. She also has denied being jealous of the pretty nurse.

Son Is Shaken
Mrs. Duncan did not testify. Her son did, however, and it was a shaken, dejected man who walked from the jury room.

Duncan, 30, a bushy-haired man with heavy, dark-rimmed glasses, told reporters he had been asked mostly about his mother and her many marriages, four of them in eight years to men much younger than she. They ended in annulment or divorce.

A Second Glance

Pound for Pound . . .

AN AGE-OLD QUESTION of which is better, a good little team or a good big team will be answered again this season Monday afternoon at the DeKalb Holiday Tournament when scrappy little Shabbona, kingpins of the Little Ten, meets the powerful cagers from Aurora West in a quarterfinal test.

Basketball is an item of immense concern to the folks of Shabbona, a little bend in the road (population: 667) on U.S. Route 30 about 15 miles southwest of DeKalb. And this season is nothing exceptional for the Indians and their fans. Last season, Shabbona won its conference, the Little Ten, with a perfect 9-0 mark and overall put together a 26-2 record.

This season, it's more of the same. Shabbona again leads its league with three straight wins and so far the Indians are undefeated in eight games. Friday they stepped up in class a little to knock off a member of the North Central Illinois Conference, Rochelle, and this victory seemed to justify their fifth seeding in the DeKalb tourney.

The Indians like to score. Twice already this season they have cracked the 90 mark and, not counting Friday's 66-point output (a slight drop), they have averaged nearly 83 points a game. They play pretty fair defense, too. It's aggressive and they get called for fouls, to be sure—but you can't argue with success. In their eight games, Shabbona has held opponents to a mere 41 points a game.

The Indians are a hustling, moving, alert team. They may have been a little awed at Rochelle the first few minutes of Friday's opening game and they didn't start their full-court press until the beginning of the second period. And did it return them dividends then. Shabbona seemed to be all over the court and the Hubs just could never seem to get going after that. In boxing, the maneuver is called beating your opponent to the punch—and I think it applies to the Shabbona style of basketball.

THE INDIANS AND AURORA WEST will probably put on a fine offensive show Monday afternoon in their quarterfinal match. Aurora West is the top seed in the tourney and number seven in the state and it proved it Friday by whipping a good Oregon team by 28 points. Aurora West is tall and it is talented. And it loves offense. In the second half against the Hawks, Aurora cracked the Oregon zone with some fine quick passing capped off with the scoring jump shot. They made it look easy.

It ought to be a fine show at the Northern Illinois University Fieldhouse at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Sellout Expected For Colts-Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The pro football season reaches its climax Sunday when the Baltimore Colts pit their wild West offense against the New York Giants' grudging defense in the playoff game for the championship of the National Football League.

The Colts, well rested after clinching the Western Conference title four weeks ago, are 3½ point favorites over the Giants who had to beat Cleveland three times to win the Eastern Conference crown.

With the help of the weatherman's friendly forecast of partly cloudy and mild, a near-capacity crowd of 70,000 people will storm Yankee Stadium. This will be a happy sight for the players, as well as the owners, as the hired help get 70 percent of the loot, including $200,000 for television rights.

10,000 Bleacher Tickets

All reserved and box seats held by the Giant office were sold early in the week. However, about 500 turned back by Baltimore went on Three men scored in double figures for Ashton, which lost its seventh straight game. Eldon McClain lead with 16, Roger Lowenstein 13 and Larry Cater 12.

Richardson to Sit Out Singles Against Aussies

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Capt. Perry Jones said Saturday night Barry MacKay and Alex Olmedo would play the opening singles against Australia in the Davis Cup challenge round Monday.

In a hurriedly called late evening news conference, he also announced Ham Richardson, the No. 1 U.S. player, and Olmedo would play the doubles.

Jones' announcement ended long speculation over the singles selections. He said he believes his U.S. lineup had the best chance to beat Australia next week.

Chief counsel Jack Kramer was on hand when the announcement was made. No players were present.

"My decision on this matter was dictated by the physical side of it," Jones said. "I felt that Richardson would be unable to play top-flight tennis in intense tropical heat for three days."

Richardson said he was deeply shocked by the announcement. He criticized Jones' method of making the selection.

"He did not have the courage to tell us," Richardson declared, adding that Jones did not show any conviction.

"As a result, our team has been in a state of strain not knowing who would play and unable to point to the Australians."

"This is my last Davis Cup campaign," Richardson added. "This is my last year of big-time tennis."

He repeated that it was incomprehensible to him that he should be left off the singles lineup, pointing out again his No. 1 ranking and his superior record.

Game Time Is 10:45 a.m. In Pontiac

Every basketball tournament has its favorite team or teams, its paties and soft touches, and also its darkhorses. Pontiac is no exception, and Dixon High School basketball coach Lyle Bogott thinks his Dukes may have drawn one of the darkest darkhorses in any of the holiday tournaments this season.

Dixon will tangle with Aurora East of the Big Eight Conference at 10:45 a.m. Monday in its opening game of the Pontiac Holiday Tournament.

And a quick glance at the opposing team's seasonal records would indicate that the Dukes' first holiday tourney game in six years should be an easy one. After all, undefeated Dixon has won all of its seven games while the Aurora East Tom Cats have won only two games in six tries this year.

But after a little closer scrutiny, two things become pretty apparent concerning the Tom Cats:

Won Last Two

1. They've won their last two games after dropping their first four. This—on the surface—is not much and could be dismissed as mere coincidence or scheduling quirks, but when you couple it with fact number two, it adds up to why Aurora East wears its sleeper tag in the tournament.

2. Aurora East has been greatly strengthened by the return of its key playmaker, 6-2 senior guard Gerry Renner. Will Valett, assistant basketball coach, scouted the Cats in their winning battle against Joliet last week and he said Renner is a top-notch player. The Joliet game was Renner's first game of the season after sitting out a year's suspension because he illegally played baseball last spring on an independent team while still a member of the school's track team. It was a stiff penalty for the Cats not only in basketball but also in football as Renner had been counted on as the number one quarterback.

So add Renner to a predominately Johnny-come-lately senior ballclub and you have the nucleus of a good squad and not the so-so one the 2-4 record would indicate. Three other seniors and two juniors are expected to carry most of the load for the Tom Cats. They are senior forwards Robert Mouw and Clint Wolf, junior forward Howard Hinds, junior center John Coil, and senior guards Dennis Wiggins and Gus Pentek.

Good Height

As a whole, the Tom Cats have good height and are good shooters and they have the speed to run although it is not one of their prime offensive weapons. Their defense is a tough man-to-man with occasional two-timing thrown in.

As was the case in most of the Duke's seven victories, the defense told the tale, especially so in the Mendota game when the DHS offense sputtered. The Trojans used a sticky man-to-man, completely bottled up Dixon's leading scorer, Bob Hargrave, and almost won a major upset.

But the Duke defense—mostly the zone—was equal to the test and the Dukes won number seven. Dixon's defense this season has been nothing short of superb. It has allowed seven opponents an average of slightly more than 45 points a game.

For his starters against Aurora East, Bogott indicated today that he will go with Hargrave and junior Phil Keeley at the forward positions, Stu Keeley at center, Jim Mortensen at one guard and either Dave Tagge or Chuck Brainerd at the other guard slot.

The Dukes only casualty so far this season, Phil Keeley, who injured his right instep in the Prophetstown game, is now back to almost 100% after missing a few minutes of the Mendota game. Rounding out the 10-man traveling squad are Joe Culley, John Hoffman, Ken Mall and Ken Ritterschach.

If Dixon gets by Aurora East, it will meet the winner of the LaSalle-Peru-Johnston City game at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. If the coming Tom Cats trip the Dukes, Dixon will go the other way in the pairings and play the losers of the LaSalle-Peru-Johnston City clash at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The Dukes will embark for Pontiac by car at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Hart Decisions Ralph Dupas

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Youth and punch beat youth and experience Friday night as Garnet (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia took a split decision over New Orleans welterweight, Ralph Dupas in a 10-round bout.

The defeat put an end to Dupas' boast that he never had lost to a welterweight, and the victory for Hart bolstered his position as a contender for Don Jordan's crown.

Although Dupas is the same age as Hart—23—he started young and has had 80 bouts, exclusive of the Hart affair.

Hawks, Hubs Lose at DeKalb

Aurora, Shabbona Score First Wins

By GEORGE BAIREY
Sports Editor of The Telegraph

DEKALB (Special)—Potent Aurora West and little Shabbona swept to a pair of easy victories over Oregon and Rochelle in Friday afternoon's opening session of the 31st annual DeKalb Holiday Basketball Tournament and set the stage for their quarterfinal meeting at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

The valiant Oregon Hawks—after giving Aurora, the seventh ranked team in the state this week, a tough first half—wilted in the third period as Aurora took charge and moved away to a victory of 75-47.

And then the Shabbona Indians took on the Rochelle Hubs in what was billed as a game between a good little school and a member of the North Central Illinois Conference. Obviously unimpressed, the Indians, playing alert, aggressive basketball, scored a 66-41 win over Rochelle. It was their eighth straight win without a loss this season.

Seeded Quints Win

In the evening contests, both seeded entries won. Maine Township of Des Plaines, seeded number three, trimmed Waterman of the Little Ten Conference, 68-37, and Freeport of the Big Eight, seeded number seven, squeaked past Sycamore, 47-45.

Maine and Freeport will battle in the round of eight at 3 p.m. Monday.

The single elimination tournament is being held in Northern Illinois University's massive fieldhouse which has a seating capacity of 5,700. More than 3,000 fans attended the afternoon session Friday.

Too Much Manpower

Top-seeded Aurora West just had too much manpower and height for the Hawks to cope with and Oregon was operating without a 100 percent Dave Broderick. Broderick suffered a cracked ankle in physical education class two weeks ago and it was the first time he had played since.

Broderick scored 13 points to lead the Hawks, who took their third loss against six wins. The victory for Aurora West was its seventh in eight outings.

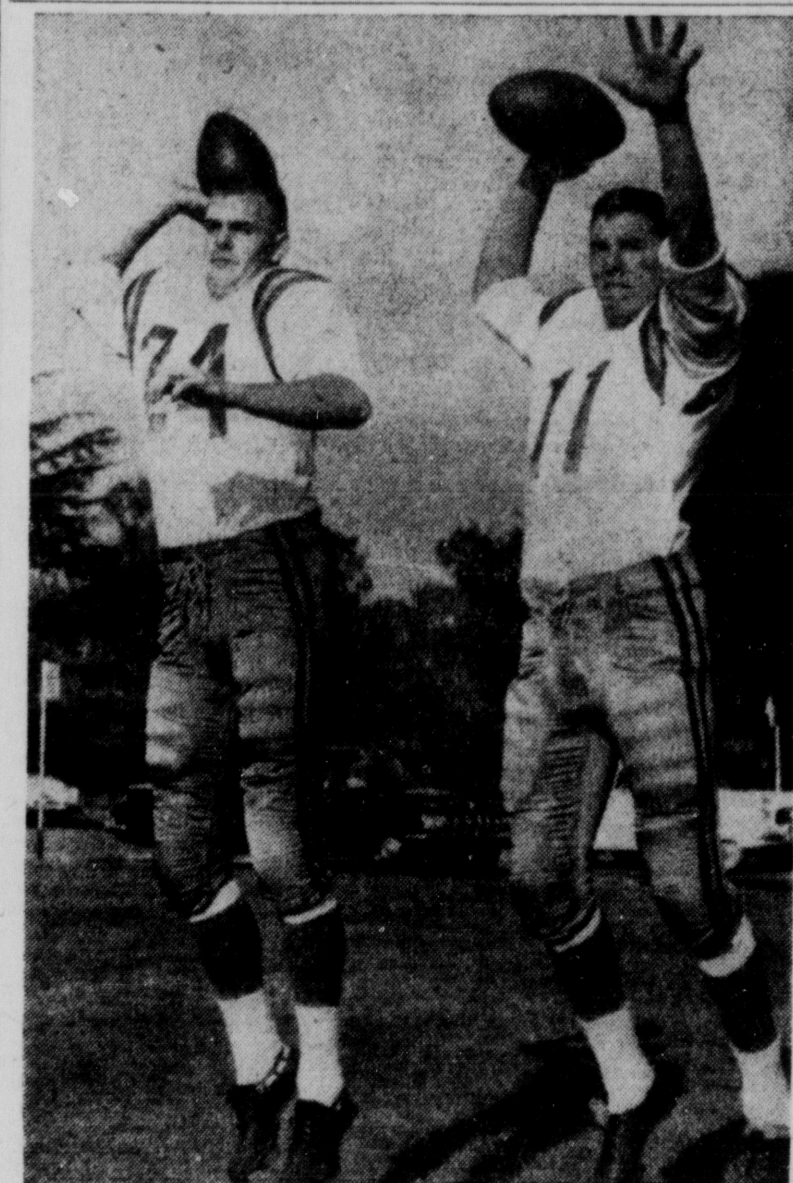

Oregon made a game of it for the first two periods. The Hawks trailed 12-6, at the end of the first period, but came back strong in the second quarter with 17 points. That cut the cap to five points and Aurora West held a halftime lead of 28-23.

The Hawks came out ice-cold in the third period as offensive-minded Aurora quickly added 10 points to the difference. Oregon went three minutes into the half before it scored on a free throw and at that point Aurora West had an 11-point margin, 35-24, and it was pulling away. Oregon scored only one basket from the field in the third period and trailed going into the final period, 46-31.

In the fourth canto, Hawks Broderick and Galen Kersten fouled out, the substitutes took over, and Aurora poured it on for a 29-point period. Bill Small paced the winners with 22 points.

Shabbona Rushes Hubs. Shabbona, anxious to protect its fifth seeding in the tourney and also its unblemished record this season, nearly rushed Coach Del Mully's Hubs off their feet.

After a cautious first period in which the high-scoring Indians managed only eight points and an 8-8 tie with the Hubs, the Indians
